ADHASA Goals To provide support and information to families, therapists, teachers and caregivers interacting with ADHD children and adults. To provide insight and awareness of the challenges of ADD and hyperactivity. To offer counselling, guidance and referral services. To promote greater community awareness by producing and distributing information to the media and the public in general. To stay up to date with the latest developments by liaising with local and international experts. To ensure that every child in our country with ADHD has effective assistance.
